I am flexible because:

I adapt easily to new situations and changes. This helps me stay calm and effective, even when things turn out differently than expected.

I show positivity because:

I look at whatever comes my way with confidence and try to make the best out of everything. Because of that, I often bring a light, optimistic energy that others enjoy being around.

I am social because:

I connect easily with others and have a good sense of what people need. This allows me to create a pleasant, open atmosphere where others feel comfortable.
